Client of the Month

Kid City

If you want to get wealthy in small business it is probably best to start something other than a child daycare center. If you don't love children and enjoy caring for them, then the monetary rewards will not be sufficient to sustain most owners. Samantha Phelps was employed in the childcare business before she opened Kid City and knew this first hand. Kid City has been open a number of months now and has 35 children with only 5 slots remaining of the 40 the location is licensed.

WKU SBDC Presents a Program to the Youth of Angora Court Funding was provided by the Angora Neighborhood Network Project

The WKU SBDC conducted a seminar with the youth of Angora Court Neighborhood on Wednesday, February 28. This was a follow up of to the week long workshop that was conducted during the Christmas Holidays. In this follow up session, Youth were introduced to various manufacturing plants, large retail, small retail and service establishments. The Youth learned the difference in the types of businesses, such as number of employees; cash sales for the year; overhead differences; varying location requirements; and purchasing in mass quantities vs. purchasing for small retail.

Funded in part through a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Small Business Administration. Reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities will be made if requested at least two weeks in advance. Contact [Chris Bixler, 247 Double Springs Rd, (271)843-6071
